The Future of Finance is Emerging: New Hubs, New Landscapes

Global Fintech Hub Report

Hangzhou 2018-11-14
Foreword

As a new promoter for the global economic and financial development, Fintech is becoming a focus for each country to ignite their economy, and a new Fintech landscape is emerging. At the same time, there is a growing awareness of the importance of regulatory capabilities, innovative environment, and the availability of digital infrastructure, which may be fundamental for the sustainable development of Fintech.

Since the first launch of the Global Fintech Hub Index 2018 in Amsterdam in June, we continued to broaden our observation scope, and studied more than 70 cities in 6 continents, and drew a “30+N” global landscape that included the TOP30 global Fintech hubs and many emerging hubs.

Time is something we cannot lose, and opportunity is what we cannot miss. A slogan for the new Fintech era is more integrated, more generous, and more borderless. It represents the good wishes for an inclusive financial system, where “everyone is born equal” and are calling us to seize the moment, be brave to lead, and to create a new world.
Key Findings

Asia and Americas Lead, Europe Follows
Out of the TOP7 global Fintech hubs, 6 are in Asia and the Americas. In Europe, only London comes in at No.4, development is slightly slower

Traditional Financial Institutions Embrace Fintech
Generally, traditional financial institutions have recognised the importance of Fintech. They either rely on their own advantages, or actively seek cooperation with Fintech businesses

Practice Precedes Regulation, Leading to Chaotic Development
Practical adoption of Fintech precedes regulatory activities, especially in developing countries, which may lead to chaotic development, and hinder the sustainable development of the industry

The Fintech Adoption Rate is Gradually Increasing
China leads in the number and percentage of Fintech users. India comes at a close second, while developed nations continue to lag behind

2018 Fintech Hubs

- Keywords
- Global Landscape
- Rankings
2018 Fintech Keywords: 30+N, Regulation, Capital

Hubs are gradually settled, new leaders are catching up

Observe globally more than 70 cities, and select the TOP30 as the global or regional Fintech hubs. Identify the other cities as new leaders (emerging hubs), thereby creating a '30+N' global landscape.

1. 30+N

Regulation

As each country attaches increasing importance, the regulatory capability in developing countries may become a hindrance

Fintech is becoming a key competitor for cities, and globally each country is paying more attention. The inadequacy of regulatory capabilities in developing countries may become a hinderance.

2. Regulation

The Industry continues to attract capital, and the size of investment grows simultaneously

The investment raised for the Fintech industry increases annually, where the quality and size of transactions gradually increases.

3. Capital
Fintech Global Landscape: Asia and Americas Lead, Europe Follows

Note: The above yellow-numbered cities are the 7 Global Fintech Hubs, the blue-numbered cities are the 23 Regional Fintech Hubs, and the 25 unnumbered cities are the new leaders (Emerging Fintech Hubs).

About GFHI

• The Index System
• Data & Calculation
Global Fintech Hub Index (GFHI) targets the three major market players including enterprises, consumers and government, and attempts to demonstrate the regional features of Fintech development. Additionally, since the traditional financial sector is playing an increasingly important role in Fintech industry development, the digitalization of the traditional financial sector has been absorbed as a new dimension.
