

MangoLife Marketing & Content Creator Intern

Location: Remote / Leon, Gto. Mexico Internship length: 4 months Internship start date: ASAP

Summary

MangoLife is an insurtech startup looking for an intern to support our growing business needs. MangoLife has created a digital platform that makes it easy for Mexicans who have never purchased insurance products to finally do so in a simple and approachable way, thereby delivering financial stability, reducing anxiety, and enabling more balanced risk-taking.

The goal of this internship is to fill gaps in marketing and content creation and better prepare you for a future career in growth hacking, digital and content marketing, as well as PR and performance marketing. As an intern, you will work within a multidisciplinary team experienced in e-commerce, inbound marketing, content creation and software development. You will be broadly involved in all aspects of the marketing strategy. However, your specific role will be focused on generating content that feeds MangoLife's marketing inbound strategy. You will create pieces of original content in various formats to achieve greater conversion of visitors to prospects and from prospects to clients. MangoLife is dedicated to developing successful leaders, and we strive to make this internship as realistic and informative as possible.

Job Duties and Responsibilities
